Travel: The best laptops for inflight movies, and cool, offbeat PDA accessories.

BEST LAPTOPS FOR INFLIGHT MOVIES

The perfect laptop fits on a tray table and plays the average DVD movie. These four make the grade.

1. SHARP ACTIUS MV10W

Price: $2,099

COOLEST PDA ATTACHMENTS

Your assistant gets personal with these offbeat accessories.

5. GET A MASSAGE

Plug the Raycom Personal Massager into the expansion slot of your Handspring PDA and its two gel pads stimulate your muscles for a decidedly amateur but no less soothing massage. Price: $99. www.raynet-tech.com

PLAY A GAME

Turn your Compaq iPaq into a souped-up game machine by clipping on the Hanaho Qpad. It adds a crosspad and four programmable buttons—the controls you'll need to make Lara Croft flip. Price: $30. www.hanaho.com

TAKE A NAP

The Jetlog 24x7 PowerNapping Springboard module monitors muscle tension via a fingerpad. If you drift into a deep sleep, an alarm wakes you. It's intended to prevent grogginess, not torture you. Price: $100. www.jetlog24x7.com

6. JOT A NOTE

Write a message or draw a map on a piece of paper, envelope, or napkin, and Seiko's InkLink transfers it to a Palm PDA or Pocket PC. As you write, the Data Clip (attached to the paper) monitors each stroke and sends the information to the PDA. Price: $100. www.seikosmart.com

7. BEAM CONTACTS TO YOUR WRIST

PDA's may be small, but they'll still put an ugly bulge in your swimsuit. Beam as many as 1,100 contacts and 800 appointments to the Fossil Wrist PDA, a watch accessory that's water-resistant to 30 meters. It works with both Palm PDA's and Pocket PC's. Price: $145.
